Jodie Adams, (left) past president of the National Recreation and Parks Association presented the Glendale Parks and Recreation accreditation award to Parks and Recreation Director Becky Benna and Mayor Elaine Scruggs at Tuesday night's Council Meeting.

These ratings are reflective of the city's general obligation bond sale conducted earlier this week. The higher rating allows the city to borrow at lower costs, which in turn, frees up money for other needs.

Aa2 and AA ratings are the second-highest rank issued, for obligations that rate as high quality, with "very low credit risk." At a time when other municipalities are experiencing a rating downgrade, Glendale is an anomaly in that it is being recognized for its stable and prudent financial policy.

Glendale's Spirit of Giving Weekend – December 11-12. Glendale Glitters will be a place where generosity and compassion are celebrated for the holidays with the Spirit of Giving weekend starting tonight, Friday, December 11 and Saturday, December 12, from 6-10 p.m. each night, with 1.5 million dazzling lights and all kinds of entertainment for the entire family.

The city of Glendale is honoring and celebrating many non-profit organizations and companies that give back to the Glendale community and valley-wide, including the West Valley Child Crisis Center, Donor Network of Arizona, the Swift Kids Branch of the Boys and Girls Club and St. Mary's Food Bank Alliance.

The Spirit of Giving weekend in downtown Glendale offers free admission, and will also feature delicious food and beverages, horse-drawn carriage rides with special mini-pony rides, inflatable rides and visits with Santa Claus. Bring your camera, or have Santa's helper snap one for a small fee.

Many of the downtown merchants will offer extended hours. In addition, "Madagascar" will be shown for free and musical and dance troupe performances will get everyone in the festive holiday spirit.

Glendale's Spirit of Giving weekend is sponsored by The Arizona Republic, Glendale Community College, KTVK 3-TV, KMLE, KOOL, JAMZ, 7-UP and Sedona Pines. For more information on Glendale Glitters' Spirit of Giving weekend, call the Special Events Hotline at (623) 930-2299 or click here!

City staff used an innovative approach designed to lower borrowing costs for our city projects. This marks the first time a deal like this has been structured in the state of Arizona, and only the second time in the nation. Part of this deal included taking advantage of federal economic stimulus funds, which resulted in a $2.6 million savings for Glendale residents.

The city's Aa2 and AA general obligation bond rating reflects the city's local economy, which benefits from its position as a sports and entertainment destination. The stable outlook reflects the expectation that the city will continue to maintain solid reserves and a manageable debt profile.
