ATTENTION!

In the coming weeks, the City of Glendale is updating the software system used for bulletins. Please watch for a message from the Information Technology Department with simple instructions how to switch your account to the new database. We are confident the upgrade will result in Glendale bulletins being much more user-friendly.

Thank you for reading the Cactus Chronicle!

Dear Cactus District Residents,

I would like to recommend that the city begin charging a fee to issue library cards for patrons who wish to use the libraries. The fee could be structured at $10 per year for individuals and $15 for a family of three. I also recommend that we charge an additional amount for services provided by our libraries, such as computer use and materials that are checked out.

I believe the libraries should generate revenue for the city.

Please let me know your thoughts on this recommendation by e-mail or phone. Better yet, join me at the next Cactus District Meeting:

- Wednesday, March 21
- 6:30 p.m.
- Horizon School, 8520 N. 47th Avenue

Representatives from city departments and I will discuss Cactus District and citywide programs and services.

My guest speakers will include Interim Police Chief Debora Black, along with representatives from our Marketing & Communications Department, Transportation and Parks, Recreation & Library. In addition to providing updates, we will be available to answer questions from residents.

To R.S.V.P. (not required) or if you need special accommodations, call the City Council Office at 623-930-2878.

Have You Heard? The Glendale Civic Center will be the first conference center in Arizona to install the latest technology to enhance the quality of sound for its clients with hearing loss. The Civic Center will install an induction looping system after receiving a Deaf and Hard of Hearing grant with partial funding from the Arizona Community Foundation (ACF). This type of technology is comprised of a wire within the building that transmits an audio signal directly to a hearing aid, eliminating background noise, thus creating clear communication with speakers, musicians and presentations.

The new induction looping system is expected to be in place at the Glendale Civic Center by the end of the year. The venue offers nearly 40,000 square feet of rentable space for government, business and social events, and is the largest public meeting conference center in the West Valley and one of the largest in the state. For more information about the facility, including a video tour, visit www.glendaleciviccenter.com or call (623) 930-4300.
