GLENDALE HOSTS DEA CITIZENS ACADEMY

For the third straight year, GRPSTC hosts weeklong training for the DEA

GLENDALE, AZ – For the third consecutive year, the United States Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) – Phoenix division, held their annual Citizen’s Academy in Glendale at the Glendale Regional Public Safety Training Center (GRPSTC). This weeklong training allows citizens to interact with local agents and examine the daily challenges faced with this critical mission.

“As the foremost advocate for our public safety professionals, I want to express my sincere appreciation to the DEA for continuing to host this important training in Glendale each year,” said Mayor Jerry P. Weiers. “The training is a valuable opportunity to engage with the local citizens participating in the academy, who gain firsthand knowledge of how DEA officials operate to help keep our community safe.”
