GLENDALE, AZ – Glendale Mayor Jerry P. Weiers and the Hometown Christmas Parade Committee have begun planning the 13th annual Hometown Christmas Parade, scheduled for Saturday, December 12 at 11 a.m. in downtown Glendale. This year's Grand Marshal is 12News' anchor Tram Mai.

"Christmas will be here before we know it," said Mayor Weiers. "Each year, this parade continues to grow, and planning an event of this size takes months of preparation. Our volunteer committee, led by the non-profit Hometown Christmas Parade organization, works tirelessly to put on the state's largest parade. Last year was our biggest yet, and I'm confident this year will be even better."

The annual Hometown Christmas Parade sees the community come together to honor the true star of the season: Jesus Christ. The Hometown Christmas Parade is a non-profit 501(c)3 organization, dedicated to spreading the joy of the Christmas season. While this parade is held in the heart of downtown Glendale, it is not a city parade. It is put on solely by volunteers and the non-profit organization. The festive event features a lively marching band competition, dazzling floats, and awards for the best Christmas Spirit.
