

To Get a Good Start...

Roots need water and oxygen

A Good Start

- Roots nearest the surface need oxygen
- Avoid placing soil over root ball
- Only stake if needed
- Level basin—water spreads and soaks in
- Mulch acts like a sponge to absorb water

A Lost Investment

- Plant too deep and roots will be weak
- Stakes in the root ball don't provide support
- Water at the trunk is wasted water
- Wet soil near the trunk promotes disease

Learn more about giving your trees a good start at www.glendaleaz.com/trees

