ELECTRICAL MALFUNCTION LEADS TO GLENDALE HOUSE FIRE

Glendale, Ariz. — On the afternoon of July 28, firefighters were dispatched to a house fire likely caused by an electrical malfunction in the carport area.

By the time firefighters arrived on scene, the fire had destroyed a vehicle parked in the carport and spread to the attic of the residence located at 4800 West Myrtle Avenue.

Two people were taken to the hospital for smoke inhalation but are expected to be ok.
Glendale Fire Investigators are classifying the fire as accidental.
