MAYOR SCRUGGS CONTINUING SMALL GROUP MEETINGS WITH RESIDENTS TO GAIN INSIGHTS AND DISCUSS IMPORTANT GLENDALE ISSUES

GLENDALE, Ariz. – Mayor Elaine Scruggs will host a series of community meetings with residents to openly discuss important issues facing the city.

The upcoming meetings, which begin at 6:30 p.m., will be held over the next few months in various locations throughout the city:

September 10
First United Methodist Church
7102 N. 58th Dr.

October 1
Vineyard Church
6250 W. Peoria Ave.

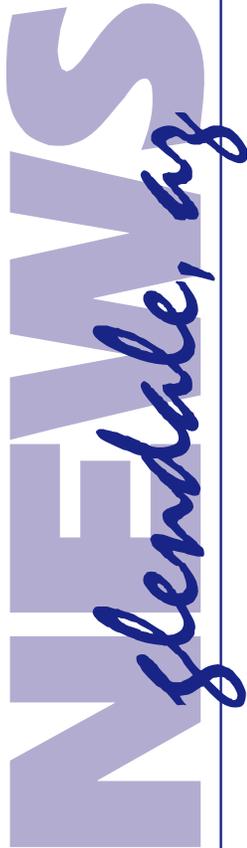

October 22
Church at Arrowhead
7902 W. Union Hills Dr.

November 12
Crosspoint Church
8600 W. Glendale Ave.

The meetings are being held as part of the mayor's Community Conversations in Your Neighborhood outreach program. More than 150 residents have already attended meetings with Scruggs earlier this year.

“These meetings provide residents with an opportunity to ask questions in a small group setting, while affording me the chance to gain insight into what our citizens’ priorities are for our community,” said Scruggs.

Community Conversations/add 1-1-1

“Economic development, transportation, public safety and future growth have been recurring topics in the meetings I’ve held thus far. It’s really gratifying to see how much our residents truly care about Glendale.”

Registration is required to attend one of the upcoming meetings, and seating will be limited to 50 people at each Community Conversation event. Residents can register by calling 623-930-2260 or visiting www.glendaleaz.com/RSVP. Residents can also provide meeting discussion topic ideas when they register to attend.

Citizens can also receive timely information on upcoming meetings and city programs by subscribing to the mayor’s weekly e-mail bulletins. Just visit www.glendaleaz.com, click on “online services” and follow the simple steps under “Glendale Bulletins.”
