GLENDALE HISPANIC NETWORK PRESENTS
HISPANIC HERITAGE CELEBRATION SEPT. 30

GLENDALE, Ariz. – The Glendale Hispanic Network will present a Hispanic Heritage Celebration on Saturday, Sept. 30, in Murphy Park in Historic Downtown Glendale, between Noon and 5 p.m.

In celebration of Hispanic Heritage Month, the event will highlight traditional music and dance, such as mariachi and ballet folklórico, as well as contemporary popular Latin music featuring local entertainers. The day will also be a time of celebration of Mexican heritage and culture, with speakers expounding on the meaning of the celebration.

In addition to musical and dance performances, a selection of food and beverage will be available for purchase. There will also be plenty of activities for children. Traditional Mexican crafts will be fun for all ages, and several other activities will delight kids and adults alike.

The Glendale Hispanic Network is a committee comprised of city of Glendale employees that exists to “empower through professional development and community involvement.” The group holds an annual citywide networking breakfast and also holds periodic events celebrating cultural awareness.
