Contemporary Author Beth Kendrick Drops in on the 58th Ave. Book Club

GLENDALE, Ariz. – It is the dream of every book group—to have the author of the work you are discussing sitting in the midst of your gathering. “Fashionably Late” novelist Beth Kendrick is going to accommodate the 58th Ave. Book Group when they meet at 10 a.m. on Monday, June 19 at the Velma Teague Branch Library, 7010 N. 58th Ave.

A Valley resident, Kendrick took a detour on her way to finding her dream job as a writer. Heeding her mother’s admonitions about “the real world” and “get a job,” Kendrick went to graduate school and obtained a Ph.D. in psychology. But since her high school days, she had constantly been scribbling down character name and story ideas. Once she received her degree, in fact even as she was writing her dissertation, this writer of romantic comedy went right back to scribbling ideas for her books.

In “Fashionably Late,” wannabe fashion designer Becca Davis has always played it safe. Ensclosed in a dead-end job and engaged to a pragmatic boyfriend, Becca’s life seems to be mapped out. She realizes that she is running out of time if she wants to chase her dream. Becca’s about to learn the timeliest lesson of all: Love and fashion wait for no woman.

Besides talking about her book, the author will address writing in general. Kendrick has also written “Exes and Ohs” and “My Favorite Mistake.”

The public is welcome to attend this free program. Call 623-930-3431 for more information.
