

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: September 3, 2014
CONTACT: Stephanie Rumsey, Librarian, 623-930-3440

Day in the Life of a Law Enforcement Officer

Glendale, Ariz. — Get an insider's view of a career in the field of law enforcement in a free program at the Velma Teague Branch Library, 7010 N. 58th Ave, at 6:30 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 22.

With more than 17,000 state and local law enforcement agencies in this country, opportunities for a law enforcement career are wider than ever. Former NYPD police detective and U.S. Marshall John Collier, now owner of NuWest Investigations, will discuss educational paths, training requirements, and the realities of day-to-day life on the beat based on his own extensive experience. Following the session, he will answer audience questions.

This program is free to the public and is appropriate for both teens and adults seeking a new career. To attend this program, please pre-register by calling 623-930-3431 or filling out a short registration form at www.glendaleaz.com/Library/LibraryEvents.cfm.

###