GLENDALE'S CENTENNIAL IS COOKING SOMETHING UP!

GLENDALE, Ariz. – Glendale's centennial celebration is in full swing and to heat things up, the hunt is on for the ultimate Glendale recipe.

To commemorate this special year, the city of Glendale is turning its annual cookbook into a centennial-themed cookbook, which will feature recipes from Glendale historic sites, expert historians on the city, as well as one selected winner from the centennial recipe contest.

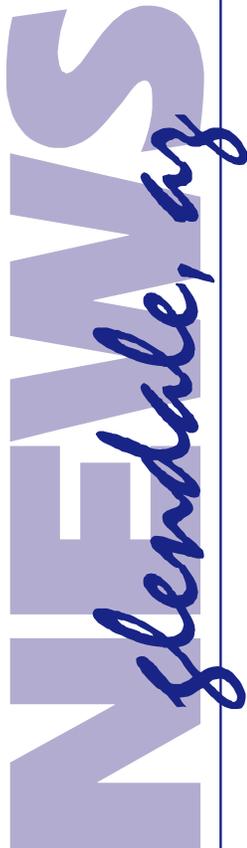

Glendale residents are encouraged to submit a recipe to be featured in this commemorative cookbook along with a memory or story associated with the recipe. Recipes will also be randomly chosen and featured on the centennial Web site – www.glendaleaz.com/centennial.

Recipes may be submitted online at www.glendaleaz.com/centennial, via mail at the Glendale Visitor Center, 5800 W. Glenn Drive, Suite 140, Glendale, AZ 85301 or fax at (623) 463.2337. The deadline for submissions is Monday, Oct. 19.

The cookbook will be available at the Glendale Citrus Zestival, which will be held on Saturday, Jan. 23, 2010 at Sahuaro Ranch Park Historic Area. The cookbook will feature many citrus recipes, but recipe submission can be any type of food, citrus or otherwise. Space is limited on the recipe page and recipes that are less complicated and involve a smaller list of ingredients are ideal.

For more information about the cookbook contest and the recipe forms, visit www.glendaleaz.com/centennial or call Lorraine Pino at 623.930.2955. To learn more about upcoming centennial activities and events, visit www.glendaleaz.com/centennial or call 623.930.4500. The centennial anniversary is June 2010.
