NEW TV SHOW TAKES VIEWERS ON CULINARY JOURNEY THROUGHOUT GLENDALE

GLENDALE, Ariz. – Television viewers can get a taste of Glendale’s best dining establishments with the Glendale Office of Tourism’s newest show, “Food For Thought,” which debuts Sunday, June 13 at 7:30 p.m. on Glendale 11 TV.

The show is a mouth-watering tour of seven restaurants – all of the restaurants are independently owned and operated, offering an eclectic menu and a unique dining experience from casual to upscale.

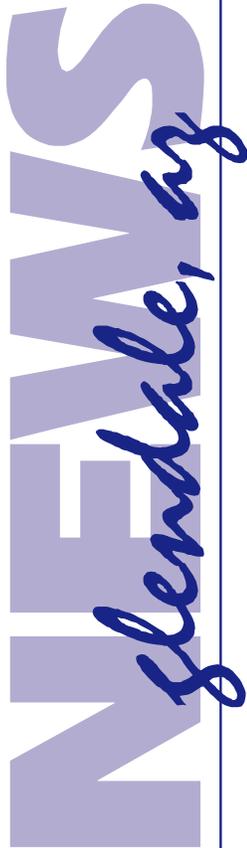

The first stop is Cee Cee’s on the Corner, where viewers will learn a family recipe for Pollo Ala Tejana (Texas-style chicken). Then viewers will get a sample of Kiss the Cook, a restaurant known for breakfast and loved by locals since 1982.

The next food stop is Dazzo’s Dog House, a place that is recognized for serving up Chicago-style hot dogs and Italian ice. Another taste of Chicago can be found at Baby’s Steak and Lemonade featuring deep-fried Philly cheese steak.

The segment on Molly’s Tamales showcases hundreds of varieties of tamales. Wrapping up the show is a highlight of all the frappes and espresso options at Coffee & Tea Express and finally, a quick stop at Le Chalet, a fusion of French and Swiss cuisine, offering authentic creperie.

The show can be seen every Sunday at 7:30 p.m. on Glendale 11 TV, as well as online at www.glendaleaz.com.
