DISCOVER THE HISTORY OF GLENDALE ON JAN. 14
CITY ANNOUNCES GRADUATE CLASS FOR GRADUATES OF GLENDALE UNIVERSITY

GLENDALE, Ariz. – Glendale’s start as a small agricultural community and growth into a sporting and entertainment destination makes for a fascinating history lesson. As the city celebrates its 100th anniversary, a new class offers Glendale residents, who are also graduates of the Glendale University, an interactive class where students will learn about the people, places, events, and stories that set Glendale apart from other places in the Valley.

John Akers, historian and the Historic Education & Outreach Coordinator at the Sahuaro Ranch Park Historic Area, will lead the class from 2-4 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 14 in the Fruit Packing Shed in the Sahuaro Ranch Park, 59th Avenue and Mountain View Road.

Registration for this graduate class is open and is due no later than Jan. 7.

To register, visit: www.glendaleaz.com/communitypartnerships and click on Glendale University classes to print out an application or call 623-930-2868 to receive an application by mail or fax. Registration for this class is mandatory and will be limited to the first 30 Glendale University 101 graduate students who apply.
