GLENDALE, Ariz. – If a natural disaster hit Glendale, how would the city respond? A new class sponsored by the Neighborhood Partnership Office will educate residents on the city’s emergency plan.

Registration is available now for this continuing education opportunity for Glendale residents who have previously graduated from the 101 class of Glendale University. This two-session course is an opportunity to find out how the city prepares for emergencies and organizes in response to disasters. Students will learn about the laws, processes and issues surrounding disaster preparedness, response and recovery. In addition, the class includes valuable information about how residents can help themselves and their families during a time of crisis. This course will be from 6 to 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday, July 29 and Thursday, July 30 at the Glendale Training Facility, 11550 W. Glendale Ave.
