NEARLY 500 VOLUNTEERS PARTICIPATED IN GLENDALE SERVE DAY

GLENDALE, Ariz. – Nearly 500 volunteers from various faith-based organizations completed several community service projects in Glendale recently. Projects included painting four homes, cleaning up empty lots, painting house numbers on the curbs, painting a retirement community clubhouse, cleaning up yards and the surrounding neighborhood and more.

Glendale’s Serve Day is coordinated by the city of Glendale’s Neighborhood Partnership Office, which identified the various projects, coordinated the tools and worked with church leaders. Volunteers came from four churches: Community Church of Joy, Faith Bible Church, The Vineyard Church and Christ’s Church of the Valley, along with several city employees and their families.

Participating churches see “Serve Day” as an opportunity to live their faith by offering service to those in need. For the city, Serve Day – now in its sixth year – is an opportunity to address projects that would not be possible without volunteer support.
