GLENDALE 11 RECEIVES NATIONAL RECOGNITION

GLENDALE, Ariz. – Glendale 11, the city’s cable station, is the recipient of two Telly Awards as recognition of its outstanding programming.

The Telly Awards honors outstanding local, regional and national cable TV commercials and programs, as well as the finest video and film productions. They annually showcase the best work of the most respected advertising agencies, production companies, television stations, cable operators and corporate video departments.

Glendale 11 received the Bronze Award for Glendale’s Best: Arts & Culture show and City Beat under the Cultural and News/News Feature categories.

The Telly Awards receives in excess of 12,000 entries each year from 50 states and foreign countries.

“It is honor to receive a highly respected national award for our quality programs,” said Julie Frisoni, Marketing/Communications Director for City of Glendale. “The Telly awards highlight our high standards of excellence and the importance of providing our residents with information they can trust and enjoy.”

Glendale’s Best – Art and Culture Show, which features the city’s collection of arts and museums airs on Sunday evenings at 6:30 p.m. City Beat, hosted by Jon Bricton, is a 30-minute news program that features city news,
