GLENDALE DEBUTS CENTENNIAL COOKBOOK AT CITRUS ZESTIVAL JANUARY 23

GLENDALE, Ariz. – Do you love to cook? Do you enjoy discovering family recipes that have been handed down for generations? If so, your foodie find for 2010 will be Glendale’s limited–edition Centennial Cookbook called “A Taste of Glendale - 100 years in the Making!”

As part of Glendale’s year-long Centennial celebration, the Office of Tourism has collaborated with the Parks & Recreation Department’s Citrus Zestival on Jan. 23 to debut the cookbook, which will include more than a dozen recipes from Glendale’s people and history. It will incorporate many citrus recipes in keeping with the event’s theme, as well as recipes of all types. Some of the cookbook contributors include the Glendale Woman’s Club, Cerreta’s Candy Company, Glendale’s Historic Society, Ruth Byrne and centenarian Atha Stubbs, of the Glencroft Retirement Community.

The Citrus Zestival, a free event on Jan. 23 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Sahuaro Ranch, will celebrate all things citrus with entertainment, fun games, cooking demonstrations, a baking contest and fruit-picking. Sahuaro Ranch Park Historic Area is located 9802 N. 59th Ave.

The cooking demonstrations will include some of the cookbook recipes and chefs, so attendees will get to see some of the recipes being made on site, and purchase the book right there, for just $5.00.

For more information on the Centennial cookbook, call the Glendale Visitor Center at 623-930-4500. For more information on the Citrus Zestival, call 623-930-4200. Also visit www.glendalaz.com for more details.
