CITY OF GLENDALE LEADERS AND CADILLAC EXECUTIVES SET TO BREAK GROUND AT VAN TUYL GROUP'S NEW DEALERSHIP

Glendale, Ariz. — Golden shovels will officially scoop dirt to signify the construction of the city of Glendale's newest car dealership, Arrowhead Cadillac, at 83rd Avenue and Bell Road on Wednesday, April 10 at 10 a.m. The 55,000-square-foot luxury Cadillac dealership is a $16 million investment in north Glendale by Arrowhead Cadillac, an independent dealership affiliated with Van Tuyl Group, Inc., which provides management consulting services to the largest group of privately held dealerships in the United States.

Glendale Mayor Jerry Weiers and Cholla Councilmember Manny Martinez will speak at the event along with Larry Van Tuyl, President of the Van Tuyl Group, Rick Meewes, General Manager for Arrowhead Cadillac, as well as executives from Cadillac/General Motors.

Glendale's Arrowhead Cadillac is expected to open in the fall of 2013 with approximately 150 employees. The state-of-the-art facility will incorporate the highest standard possible for the Cadillac brand with amenities such as a spacious showroom, large, high-end service department and a shopper-friendly retail vehicle display area. In addition, Arrowhead Cadillac will be a parts and service center for Hummer and Saab vehicles.

The new dealership will sit on eight acres, adjacent to land parcels that are also slated to accommodate future car dealerships, generating additional revenue from north Glendale's commercial corridor.
