STARLETS AND STRIPES AT CENTENNIAL NITE LIGHTS

GLENDALE, Ariz. – Downtown Glendale shops are celebrating Glendale’s Centennial by recognizing well-known celebrities from the last century. Shop owners are encouraging guests to dress like their favorite celebrities from the past for a Starlets and Stripes during the Centennial Nite Lights celebration. The event will take place in Downtown Glendale June 18 from 5-9 p.m. in Catlin Court.

Visitors will feel like movie stars after checking out the shops of Historic Downtown Glendale, experiencing a red-carpet rollout and celebrity photography station. The photo-op station will feature a celebrity cut out that participants can pose with for photos. All that is needed is a camera. In addition, people can walk the “Glendale Walk of Fame” throughout the downtown, which will feature stars on the sidewalks with special promotional offers. This is an opportunity to earn Catlin Cash and Downtown Dollars, which can be used for purchases at participating stores. Some of the stores will also provide special offers to customers who come in costume.

Participating shops will include The Astrology Store (James Dean theme), the Cottage Garden (Marilyn Monroe theme) and The Country Maiden and Papa Ed’s (The Wizard of Oz theme). For more information and a full list of participating shops and themes, visit www.visitglendale.com.
