APPLICATIONS TO ATTEND FALL SESSION OF GLENDALE UNIVERSITY DUE BY SEPT. 1

GLENDALE, Ariz. – There's still time to attend the fall session of Glendale University. Applications are available on-line and are due by Sept. 1.

Glendale University is the place for residents to learn first-hand how city officials wrestle with complex issues, while continuing to provide necessary services. The fall series of Glendale University includes ten classes scheduled between Sept. 18 and Nov. 13 from 6 to 8:30 p.m. at a variety of city locations. Class size is limited to 30 individuals and there is no fee thanks to a sponsorship from Cox Communications.

In order to graduate from the course, students must attend at least eight of the ten classes. Each class will highlight a key function of the city including, but not limited to, finance, public works, code compliance, library services and public safety.

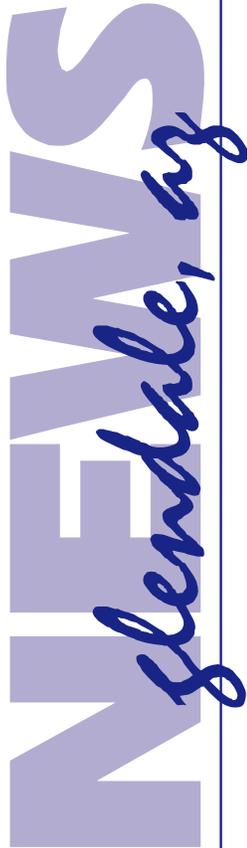

Since the city began Glendale University in 1997, more than 500 residents have graduated from this program. Participants also learn about the roles of city officials and how to become involved in their community.

Applications are available on the city's Web site at:

www.glendaleaz.com/CommunityPartnerships or by calling the Neighborhood

Partnership Office at (623) 930-2868.
